IN MEMORIAM

JUST OVER THE HORIZON

EVER watch the ore boats on the lake? I've seen them leave the docks with a living, breathing crew, sweating to get under way. Then they steam out, and after a time they don't look important any more, only small and far away. Then they slip over the horizon. They're gone.

But they aren't really gone—just over the horizon. The crew is there still alive, sweating, and important.

MISS HOKE

IT is not possible to think of Lew Wallace apart from our principal, Miss Verna M. Hoke. She commands the respect of the faculty, students, and citizens of the community. Coming to Lew Wallace High School as its first principal, she has succeeded in building a school with high moral and scholastic standards.

Those of us who have been closely associated with Miss Hoke realize that she has the interest of every student at heart. Her administrative efficiency is recognized throughout the state.

Throughout her tenure at Lew Wallace, Miss Hoke has been keenly interested in the affairs of the school and city. Her civic activities include membership in the Educational Committee of the American Association of University Women, the Gary League of Women Voters, and the Indiana School Women's Club. She is an omnivorous reader and it is rumored that she plays a good game of bridge.

MR. ASHER

A friend to both teachers and students is our assistant principal, Floyd G. Asher. He is an understanding, capable advisor with a willingness to serve the school.

In any school system numerous problems arise, which necessitate the presence of a versatile individual. Mr. Asher handles the situations with aplomb.

Perhaps his warm smile and genuine friendliness can be partially attributed to his varied interests and activities. As vice-president of the Glen Park Rotary he is well known in the community.

Elementary education and mental hygiene are among his chief reading interests. In connection with this hobby he makes slides depicting graphs which illustrate mental development in the United States.

Each month he attends a lecture sponsored by Purdue University on agricultural development, as well as weekly lectures at Northwestern University.

Lew Wallace is proud to have Mr. Asher as part of its fine administrative team.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

THE five members of the board of school trustees are appointed by the mayor for a term of four years. They work directly with Superintendent C. D. Lutz in carrying out the administration of the Gary School City. In addition to regulating the budget and hiring the personnel, the board studies safety, health, and other student problems. Due to their varied interests and occupations, they are capable of handling any situation which arises. This year's members include Cloyce A. Bowers, president; Michael J. Lobo, vice-president; Newton P. Fowler, treasurer; Dan Kreitzman, secretary; and Mrs. Uno T. Hill, assistant secretary.

LEW WALLACE ADVISORY COUNCIL

THE Lew Wallace Advisory Council was organized for the purpose of coordinating the activities of teachers, students, and parents. Since the first two groups are always here at school, the council consists of civic-minded parents who wish to improve and maintain the high standards of education at Lew Wallace.

Each district of Glen Park has one or more representatives on the council. Council members generally serve for a period of six months. Prospective members are chosen from a list of parents who have children attending high school. The group works directly under Miss Hoke and Mr. Asher.

At monthly luncheon meetings the council discusses vital problems relating to the welfare of all students. As a result of their civic efforts greater harmony has been achieved among the teachers, parents, and students.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

THE class of 1946 started their freshman year with a bang when they elected as their class officers Earl Yorkshot, Ann Lyle, and Frieda Adams. With this kind of leadership they put over a successful Freshman Frolic.

As sophomores they "went to town" financially with the annual Sophomore Nut Sale. They celebrated this success and milestone with the Sophomore Hop. The class officers that year were Richard Athey, Mary Jane Ensalaco and Margaret Jay.

When they got to be juniors they looked to Jerry Nolan, Bob Danieleski, Mary Jane Ensalaco, and Mary Catherine Kern to lead them through the Junior-Senior Prom as well as the perennial problems of all juniors.

To represent them for their all important senior year they picked Bob Avery, Ann Ryan, Ann Lyle, and Jim Rohrer as class officers. The senior year kept everyone busy listening to college representatives, taking scholarship exams, publishing the Quill and Blade, reporting for Army physicals and, of course, studying far into the night for civics and economics tests.

As the year drew to a close, they learned that their Valedictorian and Salutatorian were to be Richard Athey and Joan Seeley respectively, with Sophie Supica third by a narrow margin. To every senior, baccalaureate and commencement marked an important milestone in their lives and brought sorrow at the thought of breaking off close relationships with teachers and students of Lew Wallace.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

As sophomores, the members of this class chose as their officers: Bill Kwolek, president; Elizabeth Wodtke, vice-president; Alfred Draper, secretary; and Joe Michaely, treasurer. The annual nut sale held in the fall of 1944 netted the class treasury $131.60.

This year, Bob Hansen presides as president, Elizabeth Wodtke as vice-president, and Barbara Detlefs and Ray Mihalik as secretary and treasurer, respectively. One of the problems confronting the class this year is the selection of a gift to be presented to the school in the fall of 1946.

EVEN as freshmen the present sophomore class displayed qualities not only of leadership and scholarship but also of friendliness. It is a group that can be counted on to assume willingly any school responsibilities.

Jim Todd was the president during the freshman year, while Harry Masters was the vice-president. Renee Johnson and Gloria Keleminic were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Meetings of the class proved to be very interesting. At various times talks on the history of the school, a college day program, and a hobby show were presented. The Freshman Frolic, held during the Christmas season, was exceptionally successful.

This year the class is under the leadership of Charles McFann, president; Jean Hulse, vice-president; Lucille Raub, secretary; and Rita Quinlan, treasurer.

A contest was held at one of the early meetings for the choosing of "Mr. and Miss Sophomore". Requirements for the honor included a high scholastic index, perfect attendance record, good citizenship, and participation in extra-curricular activities. The two winners, Eli Lazar and Mary Kundich, are well deserving of the titles.

It is evident that the class of '48 is a reliable, worthy group.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

ALTHOUGH the typical nick-name for Freshmen is "greenhorns", this year's Freshman Class has proved to the school that they are far from "green".

For their first year in high school, the class chose Joe Carter as their president, and George Hoffman, vice-president; while Jerilee Doidge acted as both secretary and treasurer. With Violet Street as chairman of the sponsors, the class has had a very successful year and has many plans for the future.

In one business meeting which was held November 29, 1945, the Freshmen heard speakers from two leading universities who advised them to begin thinking about college now instead of waiting until they are ready to graduate from high school. At a second meeting, an interesting skit on etiquette was prepared and presented to the class.

Early in the fall the Girls' Club sponsored the traditional Freshman Week, which made the Freshmen generally acquainted with the students and the school.

As they had their own week at the beginning of the school year so were the Freshmen determined to end their first year successfully. On May 3, they held a May-Pole Mixer, or the traditional Freshman Frolic. This year it was held in the evening instead of after school.

With such a successful year behind them, Lew Wallace's "greenies" are now prepared to enter into their Sophomore year as real leaders of the under classmen.

QUILL and BLADE

The nucleus of the potential staff for the 1945-1946 Quill and Blade met early last August to discuss their plans. Although they were forewarned that they must find a new sponsor and face shortages in paper and photographic supplies, they agreed, that the annual must be published.

The first hurdle was passed when Russell G. Anderson agreed to sponsor the publication. Next, a staff of twelve members was selected. Contracts for covers, engraving, photographs, and printing were signed.

The first three weeks of school found Room 212 a beehive of activity. The drafting of the dummy and the setting up of the subscription campaign was the order of business. The subsequent sales campaign developed into a real contest. Eight hundred thirty-five annuals were sold, with Elizabeth Wodtke selling one hundred twenty-five for first place.

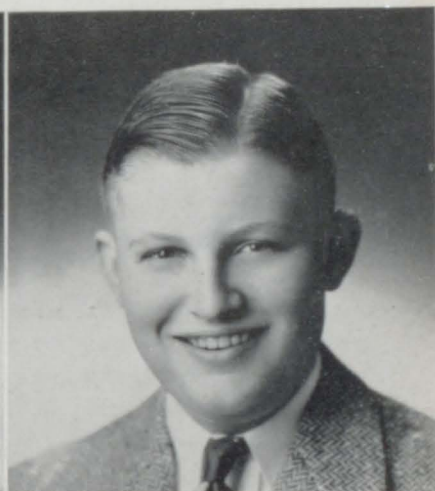

The theme chosen by the staff was "The Campus". Getting the right scenes at the correct time required a great deal of the photographer's time. In addition to the two days required for club and group pictures, schedules were made for junior, senior, and faculty pictures to be taken at the studio.

The work of publishing the Quill and Blade was a new experience for the staff, but with true devotion to a good cause they have mastered the intricacies and terminology of the work. A great deal of credit is due each member of the staff, as well as to B. T. Shirk, who corrected all copy; to Annabelle Singel and Dona Parkhurst for typing all materials; and to Herbert Goodwin for his art work.

IN the cafeteria between 3:05 and 4:00 every Monday a busy group of students can be heard discussing student problems and considering all sorts of suggestions for the betterment of the school. This group of boys and girls comprise the council of the Better Citizenship Organization.

With Allegra Nesbit as sponsor, the officers and council members have done much for the school. The officers for this year are Phyllis Mahorney, president; John Davies, vice-president; and Ivan Elovich and Dorothy Giese, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Working hard this year, the B. C. O. has performed many services for the school. Included in their activities are an inter-school organization for the promotion of better sportsmanship, assistance on college day, the courtesy contest, a collection for China's Children Fund, and the filling of Red Cross boxes.

The inauguration of the officers for the coming year took place at a program in the Auditorium. A few days later, as their main social activity, the B. C. O. presented the Rainbow Dance as a part of their inauguration of officers. This year a rainbow theme was chosen, and the dance was marked with great success.

WHO is checking those program cards in the office or straightening out the college catalogs in the Conference Room? Yes, you guessed it. It's a Lew Wallace Aide, who has gained his position through constant striving for a high scholastic standing and an accumulation of extra-curricular points.

He belongs to an organization established in 1940 and sponsored, at the time, by Miss Allegra Nesbit and Mr. Floyd Asher. This group carries on a great variety of activities, some of which are assisting in the offices, arranging for conferences with college representatives and planning the activity day program.

The Aides are under the leadership of Richard Athey and Joan Seeley, co-chairmen. Lucille Raub is the secretary-treasurer.

Another group of students, the Hall Guards, deserves a great deal of credit for the maintenance of our excellent hall order. Phyllis Mahorney is captain of the Hall Guards and is doing an exceptionally fine job supervising traffic in our buildings during the day.

"We are blind until we see
 That in the human plan
 Nothing is worth the making, if
 It does not make the man."

THIS is the purpose of the Junior Honor Society, to make the man—by creating a desire for higher scholarship; stimulating a wish to serve faithfully one's school, community, and country; promoting trustworthy leadership; and cultivating exemplary qualities of character in the pupils of the seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth grades.

Membership in the society is based upon scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Students elected are from the upper ten per cent of their classes.

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY

SCHOLARSHIP, leadership, service, and character are the four prime requisites for membership in the National Senior Honor Society.

Each semester, during a very colorful induction ceremony, new members are admitted into the society. Competition for this high honor is very keen as the membership roster is limited to a certain percentage of the graduating class.

Besides conducting monthly meetings the group has an annual picnic at which time their academic cares give way to fun and frivolity.

KLUB KEM

HEAT it a little more — nothing will happen!"

IMMEDIATELY following a statement like this, there is likely to be a terrific explosion or a horrible odor. Yes, Klub Kem members at work are really a group of mad chemists. Under the guidance of Mrs. Mackenzie the members endeavor to increase their knowledge of laboratory technique and chemical reactions. Products including shaving lotion, mirrors, cleansing cream, and plant food are made during meetings.

Chief Chemist—Dick Green, Joan Seeley
Assistant Chief Chemist—

Janette McLaughlin, Marjorie Davis
Secretary—Alma Barnes, Nancy Olsen
Treasurer—Irene Roth, Alda Iem

Each year the club has three or four social meetings, and the climax of the year's activities is a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry.

THE Biology Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Lola Lemon, was organized for the purpose of furthering interest in biology. Membership is open to second semester biology students maintaining average grades. The officers this year are Bill Kwolek, president; Jacqueline Owens, vice-president; Dolores Ronic, secretary-treasurer.

During the past year the club was very active. Several trips were made, one to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, and another to see a display of chrysanthemums in the Gleason Park greenhouse.

Bill Kwolek, Jerry Pneuman, and Mary Hubbell represented the club at a meeting of the Indiana Academy of Science. Also, several parties were held at school, and as a money raising project the club sponsored a well known herpetologist in an auditorium program.

THE former French and Spanish Clubs combined to form the Sprech Club in September of 1943. Members of the former clubs decided that by combining they could share interesting and instructive facts about the different countries and courses.

In Sprech Club the members have increased their knowledge and appreciation of both the languages by learning songs and expressions that are popular with the French and Spanish people.

Outstanding social events of the year included a Christmas party and the celebrating of the Mardi Gras, a dinner at which French and Spanish foods were served.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Cheever, with the co-chairmen Barbara Detlefs and Marge Schleicher, secretary Ann Lyle, and treasurer Annabelle Singel, the Sprech Club has had an enjoyable and educational year.

OOOH, I don't feel well"
THIS has probably been said

at some time or another by every Olympian member since the organization of the club. The initiation, with its traditional "nectar and ambrosia", is the basis for such remarks.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Agnes McLean, the group has greatly added to the enjoyment of all students taking Latin. In the spring, a reception is given for the 8A's in order to acquaint them with the virtues of studying the language. This year, a celebration of the Roman Saturnalia was held in December. Latin clubs from other schools contributed to the program. Officers for the year are:

ORGANIZED in 1932, Inkpot is one of Lew Wallace's oldest extra-curricular organizations. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Nelle G. Ensweiler, the club, a creative writing organization, meets monthly in the homes of its members. In order to better coordinate the writings of the group a theme is selected for each meeting. Besides its regular meetings, the club also enjoys annual Halloween and Christmas parties.

This year as its special activity the Inkpot published the "Inkpot Splashes", a compilation of the best writings submitted by members since the organization's origin. Members chosen as officers this year include Jerry Nolan, president; Joan Seeley, vice-president; Sophia Supica, secretary; and Mary Catherine Kern, treasurer.

ANYTHING about books, movies, or radio, including whether authors are more eccentric than other people or the good points of the latest Van Johnson picture, is likely to be discussed at a Salmagundians meeting. Centering its attention on these three important influences on American life, the group has a chance to air views on all of them.

Six years ago, in a search for a name for the newly formed club, someone recalled that Washington Irving had used the title SALMAGUNDI, meaning a medley, for a series of essays on a variety of subjects. Since the group has varied interests, the name Salmagundians was selected.

This year, the Salmagundians, under the leadership of the sponsor, Miss Evelyn Parnell, and the president, Selma Russak, have had a very active program, including trips to Chicago radio stations.

HATS off to a fine organization for its heart-to-heart friendliness to all high school girls. That's right, we're talking about the Girls' Club.

The club, sponsored by Miss Cheever and Miss Nesbit, conducts weekly meetings with the representatives of the home-rooms. Besides its annual Freshman Week, held every October, it sponsors a girls' pot luck and participates in the annual Spring Girls' Conference, at which teen age problems and interests are discussed.

Organized in 1938, the club is one of our newer organizations. It is growing rapidly and assuming added responsibility as a Lew Wallace girls' organization.

PROJECTOR

THE modern trend toward visual education has not caught Lew Wallace unprepared. The Projector Club, organized in 1941 by Mr. Joseph Dreven and now under the sponsorship of Mr. Edwin Carmony, trains a group of students to act as operators of the school movie projectors. The club makes it possible for all of the teachers to supplement their classroom instruction with audio-visual educational aids. In order to provide pictures for every hour of the day, the members must be willing to give up a study or lunch period at various times.

The educational possibilities of visual education are unlimited. The Projector Club has recognized this fact and is preparing for a heavy schedule this coming year.

PHILOSOPHER

COVER that program in the auditorium—150 words That has to be at the printer's by eleven . . . Who has the dummy for the sports page? . . . How about proofreading this?" So went the conversation in the newsroom of the Lew Wallace newspaper, the Philosopher, during the past year.

The Philosopher is published sixteen times a year by the students of the journalism class. The staff is directed by co-editors and a business manager. The remainder of the staff is comprised of editors of the various pages, columnists, news-reporters, feature writers, typists and a cartoonist. The faculty adviser is Miss Frances Bowles.

The Philosopher is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association. A copy of each issue of the paper is submitted yearly to the association to be critically analyzed and judged in comparison with other school papers in the same general classification. The paper has received first class honors from the Press Association and is now striving to receive an All-American rating.

The aim of the paper is to present the news as it occurs; to improve the standards of Lew Wallace School by promoting scholarship, service and sportsmanship; and to encourage scholastic and extra-curricular activities.

DON'T laugh at that student with an umbrella on a sunshiny day; he's being initiated into the Auditorium Council. He has a difficult week ahead, but a week which is well worth enduring for membership in the Council.

Lew Wallace may well take pride in the Council, a group sponsored by Mrs. Mattie Hannsz, since it is the only organization of its type in the school system. Through its efficient and courteous ushers, it has gained for Lew Wallace the praise of the patrons of all Lew Wallace functions. Besides their ushering activities, they also furnish flowers for the auditorium and prepare a Christmas basket for a needy Glen Park family. At the close of each year a banquet is held, at which time Vocational Speech Diplomas are presented.

STAGE CREW

THE stage crew, which was organized in 1933, is one of the lesser known of the Lew Wallace service organizations. Trained under the leadership of Mrs. Hannsz, the crew has proved itself to be very efficient in the handling of all backstage work.

The main stage crew is composed of selected members of the six regular stage crews. A general manager, appointed by the sponsor, is in charge of the stage hands.

In addition to constructing and arranging sets, the group is proficient in the lighting and decorating of the stage. Through their tireless efforts the success of all auditorium activities is guaranteed.

DEBATE

CALL the truant officer! It's two o'clock; you can't leave the school two hours early!" This is the cry that meets the ears of the members of the Debate Club as they prepare to leave for another debate meet.

Organized by Wilmine Haarstick, the club was founded for promoting democratic thinking. Each year it participates in the Junior Town Meeting, which is an open forum discussion. Socialized medicine was the topic of discussion at the last forum.

One of the varsity club members, Robert Danielecki, succeeded in capturing school and city honors in the annual Rotary and Legion Oratorical contest.

The club's officers for this year are president, Ann Carmien; vice-president, Vitold Reey; secretary, Jan Lighthill; and treasurer, Barbara Audo.

IF you can follow directions, walk across the stage correctly, speak clearly, and have a good memory, you can qualify for the Senior Dramatic Class.

The group presents at least one three-act play a semester, besides participating in the pageant during the Yuletide. For part of the work during the second semester the class produced "The Wizard of Oz" under the direction of Mr. Daniel Sekulovich, substitute in Miss Sandles's absence. The students handle all phases of production, including costumes, lighting, make-up, and scenery, under the supervision of the auditorium department.

At the beginning of each semester members of the class, together with their director, Miss Sandles, conduct tryouts for new talent. The membership is limited to thirty students who represent the school's best dramatic ability and keenest interest in theatrical experience. The class activities have tremendous value in promoting useful citizenship, instilling poise, and preparing the student for a professional career.

A CAPPELLA

ANY Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday morning at 8:40 the members of the A Capella Choir may be heard rehearsing any of their numerous selections. Their voices make a chorus of "Way Over Jordan" truly joyful, and the talents lent to expressing the sacred thoughts make "My God and I" extremely effective.

This year the choir has again proved its skill through numerous vocal programs. Music is the finishing touch to any meeting; and when the Lew Wallace A Cappella Choir furnishes the music, it is even more satisfying. At Baccalaureate each year, a solemn loveliness is added to the atmosphere by the hymns the choir sings.

The hard work of Director Helen Egger and the choir members is truly rewarded by the enthusiastic applause of every audience for which they perform.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

THE Girls' Glee Club, one of the most popular organizations of Lew Wallace, had its largest enrollment this year. Girls who like to sing and who have some reading ability find the Glee Club one of the most enjoyable activities in their high school career. The personnel remains virtually the same from year to year except that it loses those graduating and adds the newcomers of the freshman class.

The Glee Club presents a Winter Recital featuring student artists and collaborates with the A Cappella Choir for the Christmas Vespers and the Spring Concert, as well as appearing in various school and community programs. The most coveted appearance of the group is at graduating exercises.

CONCERT BAND

THIS may be the age of the Bugle Call Rag and Boogie Woogie, but fortunately the majority of audiences still deeply appreciate a march, overture, or novelty played by a concert band. In addition to the Winter and Spring Concerts the band provides music for auditorium programs, football games, and band rallies, as well as the cadence and music for patriotic parades.

Under the experienced leadership of Clarence Hendrickson and his assistant, Chester Malins, the Lew Wallace Concert Band has established an enviable reputation among the musical organizations of the state. The Glen Park community, as well as the student body of Lew Wallace School, are boosters of our fine Concert Band and appreciate the contribution it makes to the interpretation of fine musical compositions.

The organization is composed of about sixty members. Its main purpose is to furnish entertainment at various school functions and to acquaint its members with the best in classical and modern orchestrations. The Lew Wallace Concert Orchestra has excellent balance among its string, woodwind, brass, and percussion sections.

Under the directorship of Clarence V. Hendrickson and his assistant, Miss Elizabeth Scheddell, the orchestra has established an excellent reputation among the music lovers of the city.

The large attendance at the annual spring and winter concerts gives testimony to its popularity. The orchestra also appears on the programs of the school inaugurations, plays, and commencement exercises.

Many of the personnel of the concert orchestra continue their instrumental music in the Gary Symphony Orchestra, as well as in other musical organizations in the area.

THE Thinclads of Lew Wallace began their spring practice before the close of the basketball season in preparation for the annual indoor meet at the University of Chicago. The Hammond invitational meet was held this spring in the Purdue University Fieldhouse. These early meets give the boys the needed training and experience for the competition in the spring schedule.

This season's leading point scores have been Don Crowe in the 440 yd. dash, Robert Jankovich in the pole vault, broad jump, and dash, and Dick Nolan in the high jump.

SWIMMING

TAKE your marks, get set, go!" and the Lew Wallace swimmers plunge into action. Although Coach Don Polizotto anticipated a good season, the eligibility list shattered his high hopes. Of the twenty-one original members only five completed the season. The only meet engaged in was the Conference meet held in the Horace Mann pool. Competing against mermen from Whiting, Hammond, Roosevelt of East Chicago, Froebel, and Horace Mann, Wallace's "Rocky" Micchia placed fourth in the 100 yard free style. Other Wallace participants were Joe DeGan in the 220 free style, Al Erbesti in the 100 yard free style, and Steve Pantelich and Gil Terlicher, divers.

During the summer months Joe DeGan and Steve Pantelich qualified to serve as life guards at Marquette Park under the direction of Coach Polizotto who acts as beach supervisor.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

DO you hear that whistle down the line?" . . . no, it's not the Atcheson, Topeka, and the Sante Fe . . . it's the G. A. A. referee calling the members to participate in the various sports activities.

The Girls' Athletic Association of Lew Wallace is an extra-curricular sports activity which is open to all high school girls. Membership in this organization requires that a girl earn at least one hundred points every year that she is a member.

The governing body of the organization consists of a Council. This year's officers are president, Neda Greathouse; vice-president, Dolores Podgurski; secretary, Rita Matzdorf; treasurer, Elizabeth Wodtke; and social chairman, Dorothy Hoefle. Under the sponsorship of Miss Janet Hodge, the Council plans the athletic and social activities.

The main athletic event of the year is the volleyball game between the senior girls and the faculty, which is always played for charity. The contribution this year went to the March of Dimes.

For social events the G. A. A. holds four annual affairs: an informal get-together to interest girls in the G. A. A., a Christmas Potluck, an Aloa Lei Dance, and the banquet at which awards are given.

R.O.T.C.

T/Sgt. Boyd

Sgt. Elwood

THE war is over, but the tramp, tramp of marching feet and the sharp commands of the Army and student officers can be heard all day long as the five companies of Lew Wallace's R. O. T. C. Unit go through their daily training.

Under the command of T/Sgt. Boyd, Sgt. Lauger, and Sgt. Elwood, our corps is receiving excellent training in military tactics as well as in peace time citizenship.

During the war all able bodied boys were required to take three years of training with emphasis on the military aspects. Now, however, only two years are required, and next fall it will be entirely an elective course.

The curriculum is also undergoing some changes. It will place greater stress on citizenship but will include military organization and policy.

The Lew Wallace Rifle Team has experienced a very successful season under the expert coaching of T/Sgt. Gerald Boyd. Boyd, himself an excellent shot, offered many helpful suggestions which resulted in the building of a strong rifle team.

Members of the Lew Wallace teams, participating in the 5th Service Command Rifle Match, placed first. They competed with other high schools of Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia.

Toward the end of January the R.O.T.C. commissions for the year were announced by Col. Chauncey Hayden, P.M.S.&T. of the Gary Regiment. He announced the appointment of Richard H. Athey to the regimental staff as second-in-command of the Gary regiment. Named as Commander of the Lew Wallace Battalion with the rank of Lt. Col. was Robert Gerald Nolan. Functioning as Battalion Executive Officers with the rank of Major are Robert A. Danieleski and Marvin K. Philpott. Commanding Companies E, F, G, and H, with the rank of Captain are Paul Klingensmith, Thaddeus Zajdel, James Barker, and Ivan Elovich, respectively. The Headquarter's Company is under the command of Robert R. Avery.

VOLUNTARIES III

In an age of fops and toys,
Wanting wisdom, void of right,
Who shall nerve heroic boys
To hazard all in Freedom's fight—
Bread sharply off their jolly games,
Forsake their comrades gay,
And quit proud homes and youthful dames
For famine, toil, and fray?
Yet on the nimble air benign
Speed nimbler messages,
That waft the breath of grace divine
To hearts in sloth and ease.
So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, Thou must,
The youth replies, I can.
